28th May, 1957.

Dear Ryder,

I am sorry your letter of the 15th May has not been answered before but we have been trying to clear up the confusion concerning the name of the public house at Great Bradley.

According to an Abstract of Title in our possession dated July 17th 1893, the property was then known as the "Fox" and, as you say, has been known for many years locally as the "Fox". For some reason the name "Fox and Goose" was entered in the register kept by the Clerk to the Licensing Justices. We are applying before the Licensing Justices on June 4th to confirm the name as the "Fox".

Yours sincerely,

John Bridge.
